Teaching Support

We routinely employ honours (and occasionally MSc) students as demonstrators. This year, given the shortage of teaching resource, they have also been employed as tutors for non-honours courses. I suggest that we make this a policy that honours students are allowed to be tutors for first and second year courses and that we can advertise tutor vacancies to them. It is up to the course lecturers who is taken on as a tutor.